

Getting started with NOOK® tablets

You can use OverDrive's mobile app to borrow and enjoy eBooks and audiobooks from your library on your NOOK tablet (such as the NOOK HD or HD+).

Step 1

Download our app  (OMC), from one of the following:

- Google Play
- NOOK Apps Store

Step 2

Open OMC and find your library's OverDrive-powered website.

In newer versions of the app, you can do this by swiping from left to right to open the Home menu, then tapping

 Add a library . In older versions of the app, tap the  icon (or, if you don't have this icon, go to Menu > Get Books).

- Tap the  to save your library's website to your library list.
- Tap your library's name to start browsing.

Step 3

Log into your library's OverDrive-powered website with your library card and borrow a book.

Step 4

Find borrowed books under your account in your library website. You can:

-  EPUB eBooks* and MP3 audiobooks directly to OMC.
- Tap  to open and read OverDrive Read eBooks right in your browser.
- If you've installed the Kindle® reading app from the Google Play store on your NOOK, select Kindle Book (U.S. only) to complete checkout on Amazon's website and send the book to your Kindle reading app.

Note: To read eBooks in OMC, follow the prompts to authorize your device with an Adobe® ID. It's a one-time, free process that takes just moments to complete.

out of the norm. I had come to depend on my schedule and order over the years to keep me on an even keel.
Geena secured her seatbelt. "We've spent a lifetime keeping this to ourselves. What's a few more days or years?" Sarcasm laced her word. I noted the bitterness in her tone, but I said nothing. I had no desire to into this further. In fact, I wished fervently that I could forget we'd ever brought the subject up.
Geena had already plugged in our address on the GPS, while I maneuvered through the ferry traffic to disembark. Lights glittered from buildings and reflected on the black waters of Sinclair Inlet. It felt haun familiar. I followed the other cars onto Washington Avenue without any word.
This was a huge mistake, I told myself. Over the years I'd learned to with our family secrets—our life of unspeakable questions. What in the world was Dad thinking to bring us all here now? I felt my chest tighten. "At the next street make a right onto the Manette Bridge," Geena inst about the time the GPS announced the same.
I suddenly felt exhausted. A sort of oppression had settled over me—weighing me down, stealing all of my residual energy. I heard the before I saw the flashing lights of the ambulance pop around the corner ahead of us. I braked hard and waited for it to pass, but in my mind I sa ambulance in the tree-lined driveway of our summer home.
I could still hear the paramedics calling out numbers, orders, concern "She's not breathing. We're going to need to intubate."
"She's not responding."
