

Oakwood Public Library District
Policy on the Display of Promotional Materials

The Oakwood Public Library District will make every attempt to honor requests to display promotional materials for community events held by non-profit individuals or entities which are open to all members of the public at no charge or for fundraising or other altruistic purposes. Provided adequate space, all items will be displayed until the date of the event has passed, and then will be discarded unless a request to retain the item for pickup is made.

The Oakwood Public Library District will not display promotional materials or advertisements for commercial entities or individuals with for-profit motives.
